Mordí el polvo anoche

Seima Ramírez

components taken separately. — R. A culterise substance, as an alloy [< Gk. culcksor < culwell, easily + rekem [use] eutec-told (y-6-tek-told) adj. Chry. Like a eutecitic, formed at the lowest emperature, — R. An alloy formed below the melting point of a solid metal, at a minimum temperature, centrate (fruit, milk, etc.) by evaporation.

- e.i. 3 To become vapor, pass off as vapor.
4 To yield vapor. 5 To vanish: disappear.

[<LL evaporatus, pp. of evaporate < e- out, away + vapor. See varon.] — e-vap'e-ra'tine empty] - eva-nes'ci-ble ad. empty] — ev a nes'el-ble ad.

nes-ocent (ev a-nes'el-ble ad.)

reliable to pass away, gradually or imperceptibly. See a conyms under transitive [<fr/> countscent <fr/> frameworms -costs, opt, of consecutes. See Ev alise [— ev a nes'eenbe n.

— ev a nes'eenby ad.

evan-gel' (i-van') ad.

The stage of reevaperated milk Cow's milk unovertened, with much of its water content removed, evap-n-radion (i-vap's-ra')bao) n 1 The act of transformation, as pe-earbon and iron. te, an alloy of sage of re-e Christian or Gospels e-van-gel' (i-van' eurien and iton.
euriele-genessis (560-tel Artificial insemination.
GENESS) — curtel'e-gen'ic Ender-pe (560-tür'pe) Th and music. — En-ter'peevaporation (t-up/ari/shoo) n. 1. The act of process of changing or being changed into long, specifically, at temperatures below the boiling cint. 2. A rising of or passing off in vapor. 3. It act of drying or concentrating. 4. The result N. evaporation, vapor. evaporation (supor. evaporation of drying substances, as fruits, by evaporation. len'a sis) a. Biol dempt City + Trus-tu-tell'e-ge-net'le og ellere bood + and music. — Ea-ter'pe in according massive (soft than take Panilless, peaceful death porting to death of a per a putoful and incorable doug (soft then take a singular). The science of human race by external influe considerations of heredity which aims at securine the MGk enger tion.

e-vap-o-rim-e-ter (i/ap/o-rim/o-ter) n. An apparatus for testing the rate of evaporation of a liquid; an atmometer. Also e-vap/o-rom/e-ter.

Ev-arts (ev/orts). Wit sun Maxwell, 1818-1901. the sting rsman. The act, means, or result ation; subterfuge. [<LL. Jawyer and st which aims at securing the mos environmental conditions for the re. See avane.] [r. Tending or socking to plants and animals. Compare Gk eatheriz well-being) — es Eu-the-ri-a (yōs-thir'è-a) n. A mammais characterized by a bi y evasion: clusive, - e-ra'lerbert Vere, born 1894, Ausplacenta and lengthy prenatal or and statesman.

1 Pornic Evening. 2 The evening one a church festival or saint's day: Christs Eve. 3 The time immediately proceding to event, [Var. of sven*] feminine personal name. (< lie-vitre lizing in the e wife of Adam and the mother of titionium. i construed or super-ing health, physical nergy 2 Hyglene. (skill) of pood rase elem-Eux-ine Se E-va (e'va; e'va) A (e (ev), Fr. E he meen, due to evacuation; ch causes periodic ty of the moon's Something e-vac-u-ate colore < c. out I Mil. a To withdraw in withdraw () al out. fessione per-(-lin, -lèn, -lin). threatened a ninine, or (espetol To dischar area or place. [4 < e out + vac empty] — e vac'u -tô'ce) adj. — ev English of the Royal n inequalities or 2 Divisible by umbers. 3 On e-vac-u-a-tien (in of evacuating or mo of a fort. 2 Physical or ejected by excrete the bowels. 3 The a maracter, equal-e in disposition, or entire said of ellars. See syno-AL, BST, LEVEL, Of identical date, to from a number as a contract e-vac-u-ee (livak vi0-e) at t who removed from or has belowing his e-vade (s-vad') v. e-mad-cell e-vadie v. e-caspe or get away from tricks o ness; save eneself from to the poa criois. 2 To moid or get to e-made a question or a dist.
elude The facts made explanath practice e-vasion. 5 Rare To e-case see synonyms under savars. [<1. en out + mader got — e-vad'a-ble, e-rat e-e-vad'er n. as a contract. from a nautical sith the same draft to get even To get
To a like degree,
much as, exactly,
ed to express emhide, or extension to rected even to the end, hild. 2 As much as, believe the report, nor Smoothly, regularly: e-vagi-nate (i-vagi-s-nāt) v.t. -nat-col n Biol To turn inside out, as a tupidar as (evone), Sir Al 1882, U.S. u in factor, you = u in add fee care palm; end even; it fee pool; up,buenc a

Capítulo 1

Mordí el polvo anoche, con todos los dientes agarrando tus labios, con varios lunares entre las manos y tu cuerpo entre las piernas y mis brazos.

Me llené de heridas en las rodillas cuando caí sobre la tierra, del suelo de tu baño, y entretanto te asegurabas una y otra vez de no estar haciéndome daño, aunque en el fondo era lo que quería.

Y me mordías, me mordías el alma y el cuello, y me sonreías en la boca como si fuera un fotomatón barato, como si fuera el mejor regalo que jamás hubieras recibido.

Mis ojos dos ventanas hacia dentro, que indiscretas, pero más que eso, hundías la cabeza entre mis tretas desnudas. Y yo sí que sonreía en tus labios como si fueras una réflex recién estrenada.

Como si con solo mirarme en tu pupila derecha me hiciera un poquito más guapa, y más valiente.

Trazabas líneas divisorias para marcar tu territorio y separarlo del mío, pero tenias las uñas cortas y mi piel era demasiado fuerte, y se borraban. Dibujabas con pintura transparente en mi vientre veinte poemas de amor y una canción desenfrenada, donde los acordes no eran más que lunares descolocados y el ritmo lo marcaba una risa desafinada.

Y tumbados dimos tumbos entre mi rumbo y el olvido, entre el redil de tu ombligo y la palabra amigos, que perdió significado cuando la última estrella se apagó en tu colchón poco acolchado.

Mordimos el polvo, mira que lo mordimos y lo sujetamos y lo arañamos y lo follamos y nos quisimos.